EPISODE 6:

Returning to Purpose: Integrating What We've Learned and Preparing for Application

Anthony N. Fierro, AIA

Anthony N. Fierro serves as Chief Administrator of Facilities Services and Capital Projects for Nassau BOCES, a leading educational Agency supporting 56 school districts across Nassau County, Long Island. With 42 years at Nassau BOCES and more than 47 years of expertise in facilities management, capital construction, and architectural design, Anthony oversees over 1,100,000 square feet of school, administrative and support buildings across multiple locations. He directs all aspects of the Agency's facilities operations, including capital construction, maintenance, custodial services, grounds, security, warehousing, and emergency response. Anthony's leadership has driven the successful completion of hundreds of school construction and renovation projects, creating safe, efficient, and innovative learning environments that enhance student success.
