

EDUCATION DESIGN SUMMIT

Diverse Leaders Driving Innovation in Education Spaces

An eight part online series exploring collaborative planning, design, and implementation of adaptable learning environments.

EPISODE 1:

Vision to Reality: Aligning Educational Goals, Community Values, and Design for Healthy and Supportive Learning Environments

Jeanine Collins

Jeanine brings a human-centered approach to education and nonprofit leadership, reimagining how learning happens in schools and communities. As Co-Founder and Chief Impact Officer of the Center for the Future of Learning (CFL), she leads the organization's In-Systems Build Strategy, partnering with educators and communities to scale innovative practices and expand meaningful opportunities for all learners. Her work emphasizes trust, collaboration, and empathy, helping teams translate insights from learners, educators, and stakeholders into actionable strategies.

Jeanine has played a key role in statewide initiatives, including the Portrait of a Nevada Learner and the Nevada Future of Learning Network, developed in partnership with the Nevada Department of Education. Before CFL, she served as Chief Innovation Officer at Teach for America Nevada, leading the organization's Research and Development arm to design solutions centered on learners' experiences and needs. Jeanine has previously served as a high school performing arts educator, Critical Friends Group Coach, university instructor, and learning design consultant. The role that always keeps her on her toes is mom to Michael (12) and Julia (8).
